

Preface; Acknowledgements; Abbreviations; Table of Treaties and Other International Instruments
List of Cases; Introduction;
Chapter 1 – The Indeterminacy of Human Rights
I. Introduction
II. Human Rights and International Law
III. Basis of human rights indeterminacy
IV. Reactions
V. A Way Forward
Chapter 2 – The Evolution of human rights in international Law
I. Introduction
II. The Facilitation Stage
III. The Legalisation Stage
IV. Critique of Scholarship
V. Concluding Remarks
Chapter 3 – Human Rights and the Rule of Law
I. Introduction
II. Transformation and Transubstantiation
III. Effects of Legalisation
IV. Concluding Remarks
Chapter 4 – The United Nations Human Rights Treaties
I. Introduction
II. Law in Treaty Texts
III. Human Rights Law and Cultural Diversity
IV. Effectiveness
V. Concluding Remarks
Chapter 5 – The European Convention on Human Rights
I. Introduction
II. Law in the Convention
III. The Power of Interpretation
IV. Redress
V. Limits to Transformative Interpretation
VI. Concluding Remarks
Chapter 6 – The African Charter on Human and Peoples' Rights
I. Introduction
II. Law in the Charter
III. Interpreting the Charter
IV. The Charter in National Practice
V. Concluding Remarks
Chapter 7 – The American Convention on Human Rights
I. Introduction
II. Textual Indicators and the Rule of Law
III. Approaches to Interpretation
IV. Enforced Disappearances
V. Cultural Diversity
VI. Concluding Remarks
Chapter 8 – Conclusions and Implications of Legalisation: A Special Regime?
I. Introduction
II. Broad Conclusions
III. Special Regime
IV. The Opinion on The Genocide Convention
V. The European Convention on Human Rights
VI. The American Convention on Human Rights
VII. The Human Rights Committee General Comment Number 24
VIII. Consequences of Human Rights Treaty Practice
IX. Lessons on 'Special' Character
Bibliography; Index