

Acknowledgements
List of contributors
Introduction

Part One Censoring the Enlightenment

Suppress or refute? Reactions to Spinoza in Germany around 1700, Manfred Walther
Pierre Bayle and censorship, Hubert Bost
French royal censorship and the battle to suppress the Encyclopédie of Diderot and D'Alembert, 1751-1759, Jonathan Israel

Part Two Institutions and practices of censorship

Between lies and real books: The breakdown of censorship and the modes of printed discourse during the English Civil War, Tue Andersen Nexø
Censorship of philosophy in the seventeenth-century Dutch Republic, Wiep van Bunge

Part Three Enlightenment reflections on censorship

Diderot and the publicising of censorship, Colas Duflo
Toland and the censorship of atheism, Tristan Dagron
G. W. Leibniz: Moderation and Censorship, Mogens Lærke

Bibliography
Index